NOTES TO PURCHASERS:

The Welsh Mule Sheep Breeders' Association extends a warm welcome to Buyers at its twenty-third Sale to be held at Hereford Livestock Centre.

The entry of 5,300 sheep catalogued have been bred on the traditionally bred and healthy hill farms of Wales. The Society members are obliged to use rams officially approved by the Blue-faced Leicester Society as sires for the Welsh Mules on offer, and the sheep have to be bred from either the hardy Welsh Mountain, Speckled-face or Beulah Ewes, all hill breeds, for their hardiness and exceptional mothering qualities.

Despite the fact that the Welsh Mule Society was only officially formulated in 1979 – the breed is already firmly established throughout England and Wales, and now in Scotland, as one of the most popular breeds for crossing with recognised fat lamb sires for the production of prime quality lean fleshed lambs now demanded by both the British housewife and continental markets.

An official survey of the Welsh Mules purchased at the Society's sales confirms the proficiency of the breed under a wide range of management systems throughout England and Wales.

EWE LAMBS: 134,096 Ewe Lambs in 1712 flocks achieved the following results:

Percentage lambed	86.0%
Percentage live lambed	100.3%

WELSH MULE EWES: 195,832 Ewes in 1589 flocks:

Percentage lambed	98.0%
Percentage live lambed	164.4%

The sheep are acclaimed as excellent mothers, giving minimal lambing problems, good milkers, yield wool of a high grade and are of a temperament to adapt to either intensive outdoor or indoor wintering systems. Other commercial characteristics of the breed being their ability to produce early maturing prime lambs, and longevity, resulting in low depreciation rates for Buyers. Breeding stock and their lambs have been exhibited at the major National Shows and National Sheep Association Events in 2019, and a wide spectrum of prime lamb producers were most favourably impressed with the quality of the sheep and of their potential in fulfilling the present-day requirements of the meat trade.

Buyers can be assured there will be adequate transport available for the prompt despatch of sheep purchased, to any part of the UK. It is the intention of the Association to ensure complete satisfaction, all sheep on offer will be approved by an officially appointed panel of inspectors prior to being offered for sale. The Society's Field Officer – Mr Will Jones, will be present at the sale and his services will be available to all intending and actual purchasers both during and after the sale day.
